Informational Compliance Filing - Cost and Revenue Study
Docket No. RP19-73-____

Commissioners:

In compliance with section 5.3 of Article V of the Stipulation and Agreement (Settlement) approved by Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (Commission) in Docket No. RP19-73-001,[1] El Paso Natural Gas Company, L.L.C. (El Paso) hereby submits for filing the informational Cost and Revenue Study (Unadjusted Study) included as Appendix A and a separate Adjusted Cost and Revenue Study (Adjusted Study) included as Appendix B.

Background

On October 11, 2018, El Paso submitted in Docket No. RP19-73-000 its FERC Form No. 501-G consistent with the requirements of Order No. 849. Following its filing, several customers were amenable to initiating settlement discussions regarding El Paso's rates. Soon thereafter, El Paso and its customers entered into a series of comprehensive settlement negotiations. Approximately five months later, the parties achieved settlement of all issues raised in Docket No. RP19-73-000 (Settlement). The Settlement was filed on March 15, 2019, and approved by the Commission on May 2, 2019.

The Settlement implemented reduced reservation and usage rates on a "black box" basis, established a rate case moratorium through the end of 2021 and requires El Paso to file a cost and revenue study at the expiration of the moratorium. The study is to be based on actual costs, revenues and volumes for a 12-month base period consistent with 18 C.F.R. § 154.303(a). El Paso, however, is permitted to file an additional and separate cost and revenue study for that 12-month period that includes adjustments. The required study and permitted study are attached as the Unadjusted Study in Appendix A and the Adjusted Study in Appendix B, respectively.

Summary of Study Results

Both the required Unadjusted Study and the permitted Adjusted Study illustrate that El Paso's current maximum rates produce revenues that are less than the costs assigned to maximum rate customers through the rate calculation process. In other words, the calculations demonstrate that the current maximum rates are too low for El Paso to fully recover costs from shippers paying maximum rates. The annual level of revenue deficiency produced by the calculations is approximately $3 million per year in the Unadjusted Study (see page 1 of Appendix A) and increases to $43 million per year in the Adjusted Study (See page 1 of Appendix B) all as more detailed below.

Unadjusted Cost and Revenue Study

The schedules for the Unadjusted Study in Appendix A to this transmittal letter provide the actual costs, revenues and throughput per El Paso's books and records for the twelve months ending September 2021.[2] The study includes the current depreciation rates in effect as reflected in the Settlement.[3] To calculate the return allowance costs, El Paso used its actual capital structure and debt costs as well as an illustrative rate of return on equity of 15.49%[4] based on an average of the rate of returns on equity proposed in several recent section 4 rate filings.[5] The resulting total jurisdictional cost of service in the Unadjusted Study is approximately $719 million.

El Paso's total jurisdictional revenues are approximately $795 million, well over half of which (approximately $498 million) are generated from negotiated and discounted reservation rate agreements not impacted by changes in maximum reservation rates.[6] Having such a large portion of the total revenues unaffected by a change in the maximum rates necessitates further analysis. To better understand the impact of negotiated and discounted rates on the calculation of maximum rates and the generation of revenues, El Paso has prepared a table in Appendix A, "Current vs. Calculated Rates Summary".

As a first step, El Paso calculated the rates[7] for all services based on the information in the Unadjusted Study using the cost classification, cost allocation and rate design required by Order No. 528-A.[8] As indicated in the top table of the summary, the average of the calculated Rate Schedule FT-1 daily reservation rates is approximately 8.6% lower than the average of the corresponding current rates while the average of the Rate Schedule FT-1 usage rates is approximately 138% higher than the average of the corresponding current rates. As shown in the bottom table of the summary, when the calculated maximum reservation rates are applied to service agreements for which maximum reservation rates are applicable, total revenues from reservation rates decrease by approximately $22 million under the calculated rates versus current rates. At the same time, the total revenues from usage rates increase by $25 million under the calculated rates versus current rates for a total net effective revenue deficiency of $3 million (the current rates are too low to collect the costs attributed to the maximum rate contracts).

2 El Paso eliminated Operation and Maintenance expenses that are recovered through its Fuel and Lost and unaccounted for gas tracker and ACA filings.

3 See "Offer of Settlement," "Stipulation and Agreement" at 5-6, filed in Docket No. RP19-73-000 on March 15, 2019.

4 The rate of return on equity is for illustrative purposes only and El Paso takes no position as to the propriety of its use in a formal rate setting proceeding.

5 Specifically, the section 4 rate cases were filed by Columbia Gas Transmission in Docket No. RP20-1060-000, Florida Gas Transmission Company, LLC in Docket No. RP21-441-000 and Midwestern Gas Transmission Company in Docket No. RP21-525-000.

6 Another $84 million of revenues from several services is treated as a credit in the calculation of rates and therefore those levels are not impacted by a change in the maximum rates.

7 El Paso is submitting the information in its studies without prejudice or waiver of any of its rights in any future proceeding, e.g., whether the Commission has authority under the Natural Gas Act to require an interstate natural gas pipeline to calculate rates in a cost and revenue study required as a result of a proceeding established under section 5 of that Act.

8 See Appendix A, Schedule J-2, cols. (k) & (l).

Adjusted Cost and Revenue Study

As noted earlier, Appendix B is a separate and alternate cost and revenue study with adjustments to the same cost and revenue information in the Unadjusted Study. El Paso has chosen a conservative approach by making adjustments in only four key areas: the depreciation rates for transmission and storage plant, negative salvage rates, transmission and storage terminal decommissioning cost allowances, and park and loan revenues.[9] These items represent current changes. El Paso has not proposed any adjustments associated with increasing cost pressures anticipated over the short- and intermediate-term. For example, El Paso is projecting significant cost increases associated with both the "PHMSA Mega Rule"[10] and the seemingly imminent Methane Emissions Reduction Act of 2021 (currently pending before Congress and imposing significant costs triggered by exceedances of established methane intensity thresholds). Neither of these anticipated costs have been included in the Adjusted Study.

In the Adjusted Study, El Paso updates its depreciation[11] and negative salvage rates[12] to reflect remaining economic life and interim retirement activity. In addition, El Paso is applying a terminal decommissioning cost allowance for transmission and storage. Currently, El Paso's rates do not recover any costs for the terminal decommissioning of its extensive facilities. To recover these costs, El Paso is applying a 1.26% rate on storage assets and a 1.50% rate for transmission (including Willcox Lateral assets).[13] With respect to the park and loan revenues, today's environment for park and loan service has changed during the 12-month period ending September 2021. The price curve for natural gas over the next 3 years generally declines limiting the demand for that service and therefore the opportunity to generate those revenues. El Paso has reduced park and loan revenues accordingly by approximately $24 million.[14]

With these adjustments, total jurisdictional revenues decrease from the Unadjusted Study to approximately $771 million while costs increase to approximately $795 million. Similar to the Unadjusted Study, El Paso prepared a table, "Current vs. Calculated Rates Summary" included in Appendix B, to demonstrate the impact of the adjustments, the significant amount of negotiated and discounted rate agreements and the increase in usage rates. The $3 million revenue deficiency produced in the Unadjusted Study increases to $43 million in the Adjusted Study due to the current rates, including system average reservation rates, being even lower than the calculated rates in the Adjusted study than in the Unadjusted Study. Simply put, the current rates are too low to collect the costs attributable to maximum rate contracts.

[9] With respect to the specific adjustments for the depreciation rates, negative salvage rates and terminal decommissioning rates, El Paso believes higher rates can be supported but is using these specific rates for illustrative purposes.

[10] See Pipeline Safety: Safety of Gas Transmission Pipelines: MAOP Reconfirmation, Expansion of Assessment Requirements, and Other Related Amendments, 84 Fed. Reg. 52180 (Oct. 1, 2019). Other examples include increased costs associated with increased cybersecurity, costs associated with greenhouse gas and carbon intensity reduction compliance costs, and costs due to recent rising systemic inflation. Increasing cybersecurity threats continue to increase risks for all businesses, but particularly for operators of critical infrastructure assets such as El Paso's system. As such, El Paso must continue to invest in further bolstering of its information technology systems and system defenses, as well as contingency planning to meet these increasing threats. Discussions of imposing taxes or fees on greenhouse gases or carbon intense are continuing and increasingly likely.

[11] For specific rates, see Appendix B, Schedule H-2, lines 13, 36, 44 & 57, column (h).

[12] For specific rates, see Appendix B, Schedule H-2, lines 14, 37, 45 & 58, column (h).

[13] See Appendix B, Schedule H-2, lines 15, 38, 46 & 59, column (h).

[14] See Appendix B, Statement G, p. 2, line 43, columns (i) & (l).

Conclusion

The submitted studies demonstrate varying degrees of a revenue deficiency at current maximum rates. At this time, however, El Paso does not believe pursuing an adjustment to maximum rates through a costly, adversarial, and formal process will yield an optimal solution. Rather, El Paso's discussions with its customers – including discussions regarding the instant filing – have focused on facilities-based initiatives, among other commercial items, to meet customer needs and optimize service offerings. Pursuing such initiatives will aid El Paso in providing its customers continued certainty, reliability, stability, and efficiency.
